

- What kind of Natural Language Processing applications have you used?

I have used applications in language translation, sentiment analysis, text summarization, question answering, and conversational agents, etc

- What is working well? What does not work?

Machine translation and question-answering works well most of the time, while sentiment analysis can sometimes struggle with cultural context

- What kind of future applications would be useful in your daily life?

Future useful applications in daily life can include advanced personal assistant technologies, real-time multi-language translation devices, and AI-driven personalized education tools.